

Coming from distant Costa Rica, a country of Law in Central America, I am very honored and happy to have the opportunity to visit this museum dedicated to the extraordinary Russian lawyer and thinker Sergey G. Alekseev, who I have learned to admire and respect, thanks to my dear friend Sergey A. Stepanov, the creator of this museum, where the younger generations may know G. G. Alekseev and learn from his thought, his life, his writings and his example, how a victim of political repression could overcome it to serve Russia and his countrymen, to build a life of work and thought, and to open new roads for the future of Law and Freedom in Russia and the world.

With much respect, and my thanks to Sergey, Tina and the students of Law of the Urals,
